Nazer H. Qureshi, M.D, D.Stat, M.Sc, DABNS, FAANS.

Graduated from Medical School with top honors and first position in Anatomy and Histology in board examinations. Pursued surgical training in Europe including neurosurgery at the National Center for Neurosurgery affiliated with The Royal College of Surgeons of Ireland. In 1994 started as a junior faculty member at University of Dublin teaching medical students while pursuing his own research on “Interleukin-1 binding and expression in brain” towards Masters in Science. During that year also attained a Diploma in Statistics from University of Dublin. In summer of 1995 was a visiting fellow at University of Toronto working on use-dependent inhibitory depression in epilepsy models. In 1996 migrated to US and completed a research fellowship in gene therapy for brain tumors at Harvard Medical School/Massachusetts General Hospital. The work on gene therapy that included testing efficacy and toxicity of different viral vectors and & designing a novel method of gene delivery to human brain tumors culminated into a clinical trial. In 1999 completed a neurosurgery fellowship at University of Arizona. Completed 2 years of accredited General Surgery residency at Tuft’s University and Thomas Jefferson University followed by Neurosurgery Residency in June 2008 from University of Arkansas for Medical Sciences with “Prof. Iftikhar A. Raja Humanity in Medicine Award.” Diplomate American Board of Neurological Surgeons and Fellow of the American Board of Neurological Surgeons. Worked as an attending neurosurgeon at Baptist Hospital Medical Center in Little Rock the chief of brain and spine tumor service at Baptist Health Medical Center, North Little Rock.

Recipient of University merit scholarship and Quaid-e-Azam Aligarh scholarship in medical school and recipient of education and training grant from North-West health board in Ireland. Listed in Who’s Who of International Professionals (1999). Held symposium chair for “Advances in Gene Therapy for Neurological Disorders” at Internet Association for Biomedical Sciences 2000 Meeting. Written seven book chapters and more than 35 papers, abstracts and oral presentations at conferences in US, Europe and Far East. Authored neuroscience/neurosurgery and neuroanatomy teaching material published on CD-ROM and palmpilots. From 2004-2008 was a reviewer for “Practical Reviews in Neurosurgery”- an audio and written journal published by Oakstone Medical Publishing in association with AANS. Served as a resident delegate in the Council of State Neurosurgical Societies (CSNS) for the year 2006-2007; and, served on two of the subcommittees to help and write questions for SANS wired.
